

Cultural Broker

Millions of people every year come to the United States, as immigrants, tourists, students, and temporary workers. To date, the United States has one of the most diverse populations in the entire world, with representatives from virtually every one of the world cultures calling this country home. With this diversity, however, comes an immense responsibility to future communications between individuals and cultural groups.

At Deya Consulting Services, we offer educational and dynamic presentations to help businesses and individuals understand and respond to the special needs of Middle Eastern communities including those of the Islamic faith.

Our lectures and presentations span a wide variety of cultural topics including but not limited to:
- Islamic Religious Practices: A Guide for Health Care Professionals. Customized presentations are available for your business meetings and conferences so please contact us.
